RICHMOND CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 28, 1916. NUMBER 306

YOUTHFUL GLOBE-TROTTERS PICKED UP BY LOCAL POLICE

UNION LABOR CONDITIONS EXCELLENT IN CITY

Reports from the several unions which make up the Building Trades council which met last evening showed that Union Labor stands on perhaps a firmer footing in Richmond at the present time than it has at any time in the past.

Although the inclement weather has made extensive building operations impossible, it was announced that there is much work to be done as soon as the good weather begins again and that all of the work which is at present progressing is being done by union labor wholly and entirely.

All of the help engaged in the work on the municipal tunnel is now union labor, from the laborers up to the skilled workmen.

The following officers were elected at the meeting of the council last evening and will be installed to their respective positions at the meeting which takes place next Thursday evening:

President I. N. Jarvis.
Vice president, J. C. Thornton.
Recorling Secretary, J. O. Dahl.
Financial Secretary-Treasurer, R. W. Seamans.
Sargeant at Arms, J. P. Sandberg.
Trustees, J. H. Duus, O. J. Dahl, R. P. Gale.
Business Agent, F. W. Heckman.
Law and Legislative Committee, Wm. L. Lane, C. F. Washburn, R. L. Goodwin, R. P. Gale, E. Stegeman
Organidation Committee, George King, R. R. Corrie, Wm. Johns.
Fraternal Delegates, F. Schnatmeyer, S. Loranzana, F. W. Heckman.
Steam Engineer's Union No. 59 of San Francisco were seated in the council.

Masquerades In Male Attire--Is Arrested

A seventeen year old Portuguese girl, giving her name as Alice Operheim, and her residence Stege, was arrested by Officer Lintington at 10 o'clock last evening and taken to the local police station where she was booked under the charge of masquerading herself, the girl said that she "didn't know why she had done it."

The police state that the girl was apparently sane and sober. She is said to have been making frequent visits to this city the reason for which is unknown and has been under the observation of the police for some time.

Yeomen Held An Enjoyable Social

The local branch of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen held a highly enjoyable social night last evening at Pythian Castle. The event was marked by the rendering of a much appreciated musical program which was followed by a dance.

The committee which arranged the event consisted of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Bryant, J. C. Bly and Mrs. J. E. Bonheim

The following program was rendered:

Piano Solo, Albert Thompson; Violin solo, Leo O'Hara; Piano solo, Emil Esola; vocal solo, Mrs. Barret.

RICHMOND CONTRIBUTES SHARE

WORK WILL CONTINUE TODAY

The sum of $55 was raised yesterday in thi silty by workekrs for the relief of the suffering Jews of Poland, in accordance with the proclamation of President Wilson designating January 27th as the day on which donations might be made.

Reuben Horvitz, assisted by his sister Miss Dora Horvitz and A. B. Dickstein conducted the work in Richmond. Mr. Horvitz stated last evening that the reception given them by all creeds and religions was cordial and their financial responces liberal.

Despite the bad weather which prevailed, perhaps the worst that has been experienced in this vicinity during thep resent winter season, the local workers, faced the blizzard and storm and canvassed as great a portion of the city as was possible.

The campaign has not been completed and today it is felt that Richmond's contribution to the great Relief Fund which is being collected throughout the United States will be as large in proportion to the size of the city as any in the state for a single day.

It was found that a great many people were not familiar with the situation and that when they are made aware of the suffering of the Hebrew people they will respond with even greater generosity than was evidencel yesterday.

$500,000 FOR MAMMOTH CHEMICAL FACTORY

Work on a $500,000 plant for the manufacture of electro-chemical products, the first of its kind on the Pacific Coast, was begun on a sixty acre site near Pittsburg, Contra Costa county, yesterday by the Western Electro-Chemical Company. Announcement of this work, which marks the beginning of what is ultimately expected to be one of the biggest industries in the west, means much to Richmond and the other communities on this side of the bay.

Franklin Remington, president of the Foundation company of New York, is here to supervise personally the first work on the plant. He announced today that it will be rushed to completion and that the new company expects to be manufacturing heavy chemicals by electric process by June 1st. The specialties of the factory are to be caustic soda and bleaching powders, chemicals extensively used in oilrefining, paper mills and other inlustries. In the beginning the plant will employ about 100 men, and will be run twenty-four hours a day the year around.

Development of West.

J.W. Beckman, expert chemist with the Great Western Power company, and student of electro-chemistry, stated today that this modest beginning will ultimately develop into an industry which will make California one of the chemical manufactory centers of the world.

Beckman predicted that in the next ten of fifteen years the Pacific Coast will become as important as Norway and Sweden in electro-chemical manfacturing.

One of the richest electro-chemical possibilities of the Pacific Coast States, said Beckman, is that of an iron industry growing up, similar to that of Sweden. He points to the fact that the three costal States—California, Washington and Oregon—have practically as much timber land as Sweden, and that power in the timbered districts, where the charcoal needed for iron reduction could be cheaply made, is obtainable at prices which will make electric shaft furnace operations not only successful but financially profitable.

Need Atmosphere.

"We need an electro-chemical atmosphere on the Pacific Coast," said Beckman. "Up to the present time gold mining has been the atmosphere. Without fear of being refuted. I will say that the Pacific Coast has more potential wealth in its eleven million horsepower, of which 93 per cent goes to waste today, than all the gold that ever was mined, or is still to be mined in these States.

Mortimer Fleischhacker, Herbert Lleischhacker, John Bush, vice-president and manager of the Hooker company of New York, and a number of Michigan capitalists are behind the new company. Under its charter the new concern is authorized to manufacture all kinds of heavy chemicals, including high explosives such as are being used by the warring nations of Europe. The company is capitalizel for $1,000,000 in 7 per cent preferred stock and 1,500 in common stock.

SIXTEEN YEAR OLDS WHO COME ALL WAY FROM NEW YORK CITY MAY BE ACCOMPLICES IN CRIME OF THIRD

Nicholas Sampson and Walter Dwire were taken into custody early yesterday morning by officers Mahnke and Cox whey they were found roaming about the Southern Pacific Railway Station. The two youths, who gave their ages at seventeen years each, stated that they had come from New York city. The police believe that they are in reality between the ages of fifteen and sixteen.

It was ascertained through communication with the San Francisco Police that the lads were accompanied on their transcontinental journey by a third youth of about their own age who was arrested by the authorities of the metropolis on a charge of absconding with a large amount of money in the eastern city with which it is believed the trio made the trip here.

The local police suspect that the two boys nay have been implicated in the crime and will hold them until word is received from New York.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA FOR CITY

ARTHUR HEFT TO LEAD MUSICIANS

Arthur Heft, director of the Heft Symphony orchestra of Sacramento, visited in town last evening and led the Richmond concert band at their regular Thursday evening rehearsal, when plans for theorganization of a Symphony orchestra of fifty pieces were completed.

Mr. Heft directed the Richmond band when the last charity concert was given several months ago. He is a musician of unusual ability and will be remembered by the violin solo which he played at the charity concert, accompanied by the Miss Dearborn.

The band has made arrangements to have Mr. Heft here twice each week. He will remain in Richmond on his visit until tonight when he will leave again for Sacramento.

The bandmen feel that their efforts towards giving the city of Richmond a musical organization of which it may well be proud should receive the earnest co-operation and support of the entire population.

FUNDS POUR IN FOR BENEFIT OF CHILD

Richmond has responded loyally to the plea first published in Daily News to relieve the plight of Francis Kuchia, the eight year old child who is nearly blind and whose sight may be restored only by an immediate operation.

MOULDERS ARE GIVEN SPREAD

The moulders were entertained at a delightful banquet served by Paul Betty at his place of business at 8th and Barrett streets last evening.

Max Hease acted as toastmaster and William Tenney as speechmaker.

The menue included the following: Shrimp salad, roast suckling pig and dressing, mashed potatoes, pickles, olives and onions.

Those who enjoyed the spread were: Paul Beety, Cy Ramsey, Adolph Wagel, Ed. Dunhoff, Ernest Barrett, Ben Board, William De Baere, Herb Lewis, Roy Ayres, Max Heise and William Tenney.

"SUICIDE" JURY'S VERDICT

The coroner's jury which last evening conducted an inquest into the cause of the death of Andrew Rodger rendered the following verdict:

"We the jury do find that Andrew Rodger came to his death by a gunshot wound in the head, inflicted by himself with suicidal intent."

T. W. Moore was foreman of the jury. The remaining jurors were A. Hunt, F. S. Foster, J. W. Garrison, L. H. Hampton, R. S. Thompson, and Elmina Garrison

VINDICATION OF THE SEAMEN'S ACT

After all the grand flourish as to the "excessive cost" of operating steamships under the Seamen's Act, experience has shown the protestaions to be mostly imaginary or deliberate inventions designed to deceive.

It was pretended that the Pacifec Mail steamship had to be sold because the company could not afford to pay the wages of white sailors in the place of Chinese. But the true reason was that the company was under control of the Southern Pacific and so could not operate its ships through the Panama Canal.

And now it appears from the records required by the Federal Ship Registry Act that the increase over former cost of operation with Chinese crews, is no great matter.

The steamships Korea, Siberia, Manchuria and Mongolia, formerly owned by the Pacific Mail and now engaged in freight traffic between San Francisco and New York and Europe, have white instead of Chinese crews as formerly, and the Coast Seamen's Journal gives an extended comparison of the difference in cost of running.

It shows that the average increase of wages under American registry, as contrasted with those paid on the same ships under foreign registry, is only 20 per cent. And at least part of this increase is attributed to the changed character of the voyaging.

The Journal further says:

Comparing only the respective wage-rates of those vessels which following their transfer continued in the same rate as before, the average increase in wages amounts to 12 per cent.

And as to the so-called "Dollar fleet," consisting of two vessels transferred from British to American registry because of the war risks, the Journal declares it costs no more to operate them now than it did before.

EXPATRIATED MONEY

The most careless newspaper reader may watch in Mexico the workings of that principle magnificently known as "extra territorial sovereignity." Whenever an American puts money into Mexican land, mines, or oil wells he at all the law there is in the United States. This does mean that the American investor expects his government to do for him in Mexico what it couldn't do in the United States, that is, to guarantee the stability of an investment which is inherently unstable.

It doesn't matter how the American gets his property; he wants his government to police it for him. Where farmers, like the Morman colonists, go down into Mexico to pay in sweat for what they receive there is some excuse, if not absolute justification, for his claim. But when people like Mr. Hearst absentee take nearly all the profits themselves, it is difficult to see what ethical claim they can have upon their home country. Sometimes they have taken capital which was needed in the United States and invested it abroad, and this in full knowledge of the risk. But they always expect the army and navy and government and all tilts and their six or eight or ten or twenty-five per cent. We think pretty meanly of Astor and other expatriated persons, but we are supposed to nourish a sentimental devotion toward expatriated money.

IS T. R. FOOLING US?

Sometimes in the silcent watches of the night the thought comes to one that Mr. Roosevelt is a pacifist at heart, and is trying to cripple militarism by making it ridiculous. This theory has the merit of fitting the following utterance, made in Mr. Roosevelt's latest magazine article:

"Universal military training and, in the event of need, universal military service represent the highest expression of the democratic ideal of government."

Even here Mr. Roosevelt chose the milder word. He said "universal training" when he really meant conscription. His alleged ideal is a kind of jail—a jail as big as the United States, with the President as a warden, army officers sitting as a board of prison directors and every citizen put at their mercy in punishment for the foul crime of being born. This would be extremely efficient and unspeakably good for our foreign trade, but it would not be, in every respect, exactly what a few of the more old-fashioned among us have been trained to regard as democracy.

THE ETERNAL CONFLICT IN L. A.

Los Angeles has given up the attempt to impose a local standard of morality upon her moving pictures. She has compromised. She will be as moral as other cities are, but no more so. In brief, she has given up her local board of censorship and fallen back upon the national board.

Los Angeles may make up for this setback by being more moral in ways which are not so intimately connected with enhanced real estate values as is the moving-picture censorship. Though compelled to look at moving pictures which are, for her, imperfectly moral, she may still essay plain living and high thinking in less objectionable forms.

But it must be conceded that purity in Los Angeles is a stream with banks, confines and limits, like the Los Angeles river. The sunny Southland likes purity, but it adores prosperity.

The death last week from lockjaw of a Sonoma County rancher, as the result of a slight injury to his hand while operating a cutting device, is one of numerous warnings that commonly pass unheeded. The average man or woman takes little or no precaution against either blood poisoning or lockjaw, while a doctor will not so much as stick a needle under the skin without taking antiseptic precautions.

Too much pains cannot be taken to keep all cuts, bruises or other injuries clean, and to have them properly disinfected if there be reason to suspect that dangerous germs may have entered.

A Baptist preacher of Los Angeles advises every man to take his sweetheart in swimming, remarking that if he still loves her when she comes out of the water, with "her hair sleeked down and the paint washed off," he may safely marry her.

It is his opinion that deception of some kind before marriage is the root of the divorce evil. And he says:

Most of us have to deceive a woman about ourselves in order to get a wife.

If this pastor's recommendations were followed generally, there might be a serious decline in the marriage rate.

LABOR IS OPPOSED TO BILL

Bristol, England, January 26.—By a big majority, representatives of over 2,000,000 working men in convention here pledged support to the government.

The resolution under which this promise was given failed to mention the subject of conscription, but the new compulsory service measure is practically certain to be denounced later.

A second resolution condemned German atrocities in France and Belgium.

Bristol, England, January 26.—Opposition to the Government conscription bill was reported today by delegates at the opening of the national labor conference here, but there was a difference of opinion as to the method of expressing this.

FUNDS FOR CHILD

Yesterday the total deposits which came into the office in large and small sums, in pennies, quarters and half dollars, aggregated eighteen dollars and thirty-five cents.

Much credit is due Martin Dabovich who went out and personally solicited subscriptions totalling $13-.75.

Four dollars and sixty cents was voluntarily contributed and deposited at the Daily News office.

One little envelope bearing the unmistakable handwriting of a small child bore the following inscription: "From Geraldine Quinly, to help a little playmate have her eyes doctored." The envelope contained two dollars and ten cents in pennies and other coins of small denomination. Geraldine's contribution doubtless represented several months' deposits in her "bank" and the sacrifice of little pleasures that are big pleasures when observed from the child-ish standpoint.
